LAWYER FLAYS WILL COUNTY BOND COMMITTEE

Judge Frederick A. Hill of the Circuit court of Will County, has been hearing arguments this week on the demurrers to a bill for injunction, asking that the county be restrained from delivering $1,750,000 in highway bonds to H. C. Speer & Sons and William R. Compton, of Chicago, as per agreement made by the county board's committee of 6 with these bonding houses.

Delivery of the bonds voted last November, for the purpose of paving 58 miles of highways in Will County has been delayed by the injunction suit filed by six taxpayers.

Attorney James A. Bray, representing the bonding companies spoke for the demurrer, charging that there was no cause for action and asked that the injunction suit be dismissed.

Attorney Louis L. Lagger, acting for the petitioners for the injunction has asked that the demurrer be overruled and the court proceed with the hearing on the injunction suit.

Mr. Lagger charged that the county was losing $133,048.25 thru the transaction. He placed the blame on the six members of the county board committee for the deal with the bonding house prior to election.

This committee, of which Supervisor Fred A. Francis of New Lenox is chairman, is composed of Supervisors Frank S. Lambert, Joseph J. Plesse, A. F. Shupp, W. H. Metzger and Charles Lauth.

Mr. Lagger asked "How were the people to know the inside of this deal?" Continuing he said "The terms do not appear in resolution and they were not given to a newspaper. All the resolution says is 'Let us turn over the securities to some one in Chicago.'"

Mr. Lagger stated that haste in selling the bonds was not necessary. On this subject he said: "Why all this haste? In August before the election empowering them to sell bonds, these six gentlemen met two Chicago bondsmen. They said 'It makes no difference whether you come from Chicago, Joliet or the other regions. We do not need the money for three years but we will tell you what we will do. We will give you $1,150,000 and pay 4 3-4 per cent for it. You keep it until needed and pay us 2 per cent for it.'"

"Submit this problem to a group of high school boys and simple arithmetic will make them say, 'Hold on, you cannot do that.' What conclusion would you draw from this? Now they say it was a bad guess. The answer to that is that they were not obliged to guess in August."

"At the same time a Joliet bank was prepared to lend money at 4 1-2 per cent interest, the highest rate paid for Liberty bonds. There was no joker in that deal."

Mr. Lagger summed up the case as follows: "First, six men received an offer from the Chicago bonding companies and held an election which was carried. The county board ratified the project which was stated in a few words. Here we have a trustee of public money acting in haste and in secrecy."

"Then we find that the contract gives the third party power to retain all of the money for one year, 70 per cent for the next year and is allowed to pay the county two per cent for its money which is costing 4 3-4 per cent. Did they have a right to lose money? At the end of the three years, $27,000 is lost to the taxpayers."

"There is a scroful man, a bogey man in the contract that provides for a bonus of $68,000. This is a bogey man that any schoolboy can see. But the supervisors want to point to it and say: 'See that Mr. Taxpayer, $68,000 saved', but the bogey represents almost $100,000."

"Judge, money is good only for what it buys. When this money is to buy roads for the county it has shrunk $27,000. Then there is the matter of the local banker willing to take 4 1-4 per cent interest. That would have saved the county $105,180. The bargain that looked so good to the six enterprising gentlemen in the good old summer time does not look so good in the poor old winter time."

"We contend that the supervisors knew or could have known that this was not good business. If they can make these mistakes under the law then we have no case."

Mr. Lagger submitted figures to show that the county, under its contract will pay $170,406.25. Under two per cent clause it will receive $74,538 making a net loss of $95,868.25. The bonus of $68,000 leaves the net loss $27,868.25. Added to this is the difference between 4 1-4 per cent and 4 3-4 per cent interest which amounts to $105,180 making a net total loss of $133,048.25, according to Mr. Lagger.

Attorney Henry Walse of Chicago spoke for the demurrer. He said that there was no facts stated in the original bill which charged that H. C. Speer & Sons representative obtained the contract thru "devious undue wiles" as the bill charges.

Judge Hill asked why the county should pay interest on bonds for three years in advance. He replied that this was customary in the sale of bonds rather than taking a chance on a changeable bond market with piece meal selling.

Mr. Walse contended that there was no question about the interest rate since the tax payers empowered the board to pay 4 3-4 per cent interest.

Mokena Students Contribute Some Live News Stories

The study of journalism being a part of this semester's work, students of the Mokena public school are going to contribute local news items or stories to this paper and the following are the first offerings:

COASTING AN ENJOYABLE WINTER SPORT

Several Mokena boys had a fine time coasting on the Hill property south of Mokena Saturday. The only accident was the breaking of the ice on a small slough when James Martie and Harold Homerding were on the sled. Both boys were quite wet and cold after their unexpected bath.

The weather was ideal for coasting, and the snow was nearly perfect. In former years coasting has been better, but not so during the past few years. With the weather man predicting more snow, and with no thaw in sight, the sport of Saturday will be open to Mokena boys and girls for sometime to come.

NORGE CLUB CARRIES HONORS AT PALOS

Capt. Harry Lien of the Norge Ski Club, and his clubmates carried all honors at the Palos Park ski meet Sunday. In two jumps Lien jumped 136 and 134 feet. Carl Nilsson jumped 118 and 131 feet. In class B Roy Mikkelsen jumped 131 and 135 feet. Geo. Gunderson of Racine, Wisconsin, jumped 129 and 133 feet. Carl Aaker of Ogden Dunes Ski Club jumped 146 feet but fell. Harvey Nilsen and Howard Jansen winners of the prizes of the Forest Preserve Juniors final did some good jumping. Many riders fell but none were seriously injured.

Nearly 20,000 people attended the meet.

MOKENA GIRLS ATTEND DANCE

Miss Mildred Woodrich and Miss Eleanor Lauffer of Mokena attended a Valentine dance given by the Metropolitan Business College of Joliet on Friday, Feb. 8th. The dance was sponsored by Mrs. Jennings, wife of the principal of the Business College. After the dance refreshments were served. Miss Woodrich is a graduate of the Mokena High School and also of the Metropolitan Business College. Miss Lauffer took one year of high school in Mokena, and is now attending the Metropolitan Business College.

MORIARTY'S LEAVE FOR CAL.

Mrs. Rose Moriarty, her son Francis, and daughter Grace, left the past week for California. They are motoring with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schmuhl of Joliet. They expect to return the latter part of April.

Francis, a junior in the Joliet High School intends to make up his school work by going to summer school. Grace in the fourth grade, intends to make up her work by examinations when she returns.

Mrs. Moriarty will be missed in the community, as she was one of the active members and supporters of the P. T. A., and a teacher for the junior girls in the M. E. church. Her house will remain closed during her absence.

CAR SKIDS INTO DITCH

Last Sunday night a Ford coupe driven by Mr. Howatt, manager of the local A. & P. store skidded into a ditch one half mile south of Mokena on the Wolf road. The icy road was the cause.

Mr. Howatt, his wife and son were in the car. They were on their way home from Joliet when the accident occurred. The car was not damaged and no one was hurt.

Three boys from Mokena who were on their way to Joliet, stopped and pushed the car out of the ditch.

NEW SCHOOL HOUSE NEARS COMPLETION

The new Mokena school house is nearing completion. It is hoped that the building may be finished by April. The new school has a large gymnasium and the structure has a nice exterior appearance. If the building is finished, the pupils will have an opportunity of using the new school before the close of this school term.

The new school has no winding stairways and is built on the ground level. It is located on the third street back from Main street on the lot near the principal's house. It has been under construction for about 8 months. It will cost about $40,000 when completed.

Mokena has never had a gymnasium up to this time and the young people of the town should welcome this privilege they will have to use it.

The pupils are anxious to get into the new school house away from the noise of the railroad, and where they will have room to play. It will be a red letter day for Mokena when the new school is opened.

Will Hold Dakota Horse Sale

Henry Yunker of Mokena, salesman for the Northwest Horse Sale Company announces that a sale of 30 head of Dakota horses will be held at the Brick Tavern on the Lincoln Highway east of New Lenox next Thursday, February 21.

The Town Doctor SAYS

KNOW YOUR ATMOSPHERE

Two men were driving a beautiful winding roadway through a rolling wooded country when rounding a curve they suddenly came upon a number of cars at a standstill.

There was no accident, there was no police officer, but no barrier of stoutest iron or electrified steel, no highway's "Road Closed" or "Bridge Out" could have been more effective; cars east-bound and "westward ho" stand still as if cement-bound to the pavement, for a mother Seganku had chosen this arterial highway for an ostentatious promenade of her progeny.

That mother polecat and a lot of little polecats were going places, and in their going, behemoths of gasoline-driven iron and steel—brothers in creation of odoriferous atmosphere whose path she crossed, became as statues.

With glance neither to right nor left she led her little family across the highway, while a score or more of earthly dwellers looked on with awe and apprehension, and marveled at her boldness, nerve and determination.

There is no doubt but that many of her kind had ventured to cross.

TINLEY GIRL IS BRIDE OF CHICAGO PASTOR

The Rev. Albert Buddenhagen, pastor of the Zion Lutheran church of Tinley Park performed a marriage ceremony Tuesday night uniting his daughter, Irma, 25 years old, to the Rev. Gustave A. Fandrey, 62 years old.

Rev. Mr. Fandrey, a widower, has been pastor of St. Stephen's Evangelical Lutheran church, 4352 Parker avenue, for thirty years. He is also president of the Evangelical Lutheran synod of Iowa and other states.

Only a few relatives and close friends witnessed the ceremony, which was performed at 8 p. m., in Rev. Mr. Fandrey's parsonage, at 5652 South Sangamon street. The bride, for ten years organist in her father's church in Tinley Park, met her husband through his religious association with her father.

Auction Sales Net Thousands

Auction sales this winter are being exceptionally well attended and the prices are well over the average of other years. There appears to be a good demand for horses even though many tractors are in use on the present day farms.

The following sales showed recently that all farm sales where the real high class stuff is offered for sale, bring keen bidding and good buyers.

The recent sale on the Walter Gray farm in Homer township, netted a total of $6,875. Cows averaged $152 with the top notch at $191.00. The farm of Mrs. Hammon of Tinley Park also went over well, netting $5,400.00.

Edw. Schmaedeke, well known auctioneer of Orland was in charge of these sales.

Another sale which brought top notch prices was the one held on the Henry L. Rust farm near Marley. Horses set an exceptional price, one team bringing $199 apiece. This sale brought a total of $5,050. Charles Erickson and Edw. Schmaedeke were the auctioneers.

Honor Tinley Park Bride Elect

The big social event of the season in Tinley Park took place last Thursday evening when a big surprise bridal shower was given in honor of Miss Irma Buddenhagen by her sister, Miss Herta in the dining room of the Sportsman's Inn at Tinley. A full course dinner was served to about 32 guests, all the young ladies being life long friends of the bride elect and schoolmates. Her father, Rev. Albert Buddenhagen, pastor of the Zion Lutheran church in Tinley Park, was the principal speaker. Wedding rings were the favors. She received many useful gifts.

that road, but faltered after starting and had, therefore, been annihilated; others had looked across the highway and wished they were on the other side; others had peered out at the whizzing automobiles and turned back with fear and trembling in their hearts, and many more were content to stay where they were. But this little "kitty" knew the power of her atmosphere, decided to get somewhere, made known her intentions, started, kept on going, and got where she was going—to the other side of the road.

The moral to communities is this: Recognize the power of YOUR atmosphere (concerted effort—pulling together) decide on what kind of a community you would like yours to be, then start individually and collectively, thinking and DOING those things that will make it such—looking neither right nor left, until you "get where you are going to."

AND REMEMBER, that the town that says, "It can't be done" will lose its trade to the town that does it.

Tinley Garden Club All Set For Big Show

Model garden exhibits at the Chicago Garden and Flower show which opens Feb. 25 at the Hotel Sherman, will be more numerous and varied than ever.

Manager John A. Servas has made an entirely new layout for the gardens in the exhibition hall. Instead of two rows of gardens, there will be three. Down the center of the hall will be large gardens of formal design elaborately equipped with architectural features. On either side of them will be a broad garden path down which spectators may walk, and against each wall will be another row of gardens smaller in size. This arrangement gives a greater variety of sizes and shapes, and permits of a larger number of individual exhibitions.

While the gardens in the center row will be formal in design, those against the east wall will be naturalistic and here there will be two wild gardens, showing reproductions of Cook County flora in its natural state. One will be made by the Cook County Forest Preserve. Wild flowers which have been saved from destruction in the county forests will be forced into flower for the show. Beside it will be a ravine garden, in which blood-root, hepaticas, trilliums, lady slippers and other shy denizens of the native forest hereabouts will be shown, as they used to inhabit the north shore ravines.

Modern gardens of living plants will be made by 17 garden clubs, and each will have a valuable lesson for the amateur garden designer. They will be small, and will be confined to a single feature, but it will show the correct solution of some fairly general garden problems. Many gardens in the Chicago areas have profited by such lessons learned in the Chicago flower and garden show.

Gardens will be made by several garden clubs. Each will show a typical area, unsightly with debris, such as exist too often in suburban home grounds; and by its side will be actual proof of the way in which it can be transformed into a beauty spot. A tea room will be conducted in the show by members of the Garden Club of Illinois, each member club assigning ladies to serve as waitresses on one day.

Tickets for the show are fifty cents and may be secured thru Mrs. Wm. Funk, president of the Tinley Park Garden Club, or Mrs. Frank Baldwin, secretary.

It Never Rains But It Pours

This old saying is sure holding good in the case of the editor on whose trail the old jinx has been camping for the past several weeks.

To begin with Mrs. Hugh Deadmore, our linotype operator fell on the ice and injured her hand so badly that she will be laid up for awhile.

Then the editor's oldest daughter Miss Adeline Semmler was stricken with the flu. Just as she was able to be up again, Miss Ada, the youngest daughter was stricken with intestinal flu. On Tuesday night the editor's wife was also stricken with the flu. Miss Stella Schultz who has been keeping house for the stricken family, has also fallen a victim of the flu and is ill at the John Martin home.

On Thursday, Mrs. Knowels a Joliet nurse was called in to care for the editor's family. Mrs. John Semmler, the editor's mother has also been quite ill of late, but is some what improved. Yes sir, it sure does pour now, but the sun will shine again by and by.

Our valiant side kick, Don Hall has come to the rescue and is helping out splendidly in the mechanical end of the printing office.

Tinley Basketball Team Books 3 Big Games

On Sunday, March 3rd, THREE BIG GAMES will be played at the Saenger Hall, Tinley Park. The first game will start at 2:30 p. m. sharp. These games will be thrillers as Crete has been known to put out real teams and they have a large following. Let us show them that our teams, the Triangle teams, have a greater following. Drop in on this afternoon and enjoy yourself.

On Friday night, Feb. 15 at eight o'clock sharp, the Palos Park team will be the Tinley Triangles opponents. This team has a couple ex-college players on its team.

Last Friday night, the two Chicago Heights teams defeated the Tinley Triangles by the scores of 25 to 16 and 37 to 32.

The Tinley lights made the lights of the Heights work hard for their victory. Due to a dilapidated basket the game was rather slow. The Heights teams got the "breaks" with this basket as the Tinley shots seemingly to go in would ring out. This effected the team greatly. Tinley's shooting was off form as a whole too.

The Tinley heavies played a poor game for three-quarters but in the last quarter, opened up and tried hard to rally, but either the score the Heights caged or the rally was started too late. At the end of the third quarter the Heights was leading by a margin of 33 to 15. This shows what a rally Tinley staged. The last quarter had the crowd on edge until the cheering at last became deafening. (This is no baloney)

The girls played Monday night at Crete and lost a rather hard struggle to the Crete girls. Score 12 to 5. The Tinley captain, Ruth Funk made all 5 points. It looks as the girls have a great leader. The other girls played a great game too.

Henry Boldt is now manager of the Tinley Triangle teams. Alright, let us give him a hand and put Tinley on the map.

P. S. The dilapidated basket has been replaced by a new one so the baskets wont be an alibi for losing. Call Tinley 52-W for games with the Tinley Triangle teams between 6 and 7 p. m. any night.

Will Hold Sow Sale

Next Wednesday, John E. Francis & Son will hold a bred sow sale on their farm at the southeast edge of the village of New Lenox. A very choice offering will be put on the market. The sale will begin at 1 p. m.

P. J. Wagner, of Orland Quits Teaming Business

P. J. Wagner of Orland who has been engaged in the teaming business for many years, is quitting the business and will sell all his teams and teaming equipment at public sale at his place 1-2 mile north of Orland Park on Route 51 on Thursday, Feb. 28.

Tax Collectors Start Feb. 23

Walter Krohn, treasurer of Will County announces that the deputy tax collectors will begin collection of taxes in the rural districts and will be given about 15 days in which to complete the job.

PETER SPIESS OF MOKENA PASSES ON

Peter Spiess, widely known Mokena resident, aged 70 years, four months and four days, died at his home in Mokena Wednesday morning at 3:45 o'clock following a siege of heart trouble.

Peter Henry Spiess was born in Ottawa, Illinois, October 5, 1858.

On March 17, 1880 he was united in marriage with Miss Elizabeth newson of Orland. To this union 9 children were born of whom two sons Louis and Albert preceded the father in death.

He followed the pursuit of agriculture for many years in Orland township. After retiring from active farm work Mr. Spiess located in Mokena a number of years ago and has resided here since.

He is survived by his widow, five sons Wilbert, Walter, Harold Alvie of Mokena, Harvey of Frankfort two daughters, Mrs. Annie M. Reiter of Lockport, Mrs. Olive Kohl of Orland; 14 grandchildren, one great grand child.

Mr. Spiess was a kindly dispositioned man who always had a kind word for everyone. His family and his community have suffered a keen loss in his passing.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon from the late home at 1 o'clock to the M. E. church at Orland Park with burial in the Cooper cemetery near Orland Park.

Rev. Glen T. Beatty of the Mokena M. E. church and Rev. Paul T. Sanders of the Orland Park M. E. church officiated.

Mokena A. & P. Store Quits Business

The A. & P. Store which has been operated in the Walter Fisher building in Mokena for the past several years, is going out of business this week. Manager Howatt has received notice from the A. & P. headquarters that the store will quit business Saturday night of this week. Manager Howatt says that no reason has been given why the store is being closed. It is presumed that the business did not come up to the amount required by the company as was the case at Tinley Park. During the few years the A. & P. store has been in business in Mokena, it had three different managers, Mr. Howatt being the third and present manager.

Elect Pure Milk Assco. Directors

At a meeting of the Pure Milk Association held in Joliet Monday afternoon, a board of local directors was chosen among them being Albert Schilling, Orland and Charles Erickson, Mokena.

District officers will be chosen at a meeting of the association March 12, at the Hotel Morrison, Chicago.

Tinley Lions Entertain Ladies

One of the most elaborate and highly interesting social events of the winter season took place Thursday night of this week when the Tinley Park Lions Club put on a "Ladies Night" for the wives and lady friends of the Lion members.

A wonderful program was given and the ladies enjoyed the whole affair immensely. An extended writeup of this event will appear in our next issue.

STATE CAPITOL NEWS

Hiram L. Williamson, Secretary Illinois Press Association

Governor Emmerson's 3-cent gasoline tax bill is now before the general assembly. It was offered in the house by Representative Homer Tice, Greenview, and in the senate by President Pro Tem Martin R. Carlson, Moline. Carrying the mark of approval of the new state administration, it promises to be one of the big pieces of legislation of the session. The bill is a 3-cent tax and exemption is provided for all gasoline or similar products used for agricultural or commercial purposes other than operating motor vehicles. Two-thirds of the money will go to the state for the completion of the state bond issue roads and other highway improvements over the state. The remaining one-third will be allotted to the counties in proportion to the motor license fees paid by each, and will be used for the building of permanent improvements in conjunction with the state aid plan.

An old measure with a new date made its appearance in the senate a few days ago when Senator Simon E. Lantz of Congerville introduced a state income tax bill. The bill provides for collection of a state tax on incomes of over $5,000. Under the provisions of the measure the state would collect 1 per cent on incomes under $5,000 a year; 2 per cent on incomes between $5,000 and $10,000 a year, and 3 per cent on incomes over $10,000 a year. An exemption of $1,000 would be allowed single persons; $2,000 for married persons and $500 for each dependent.

The new addition to the state centennial building probably will be six stories in height and will cost approximately $750,000. The various divisions of the state highway department which are scattered throughout the city probably will be located on the top floor and other departments on the five floors below. Senator Earl B. Searcy, Springfield, has conferred with Governor Emmerson on the proposed new addition, which is favored by the governor.

Illinois' biennial budget, which was presented to the general assembly a few days ago, contained an appropriation of $250,000 for permanent improvements on the Illinois state fair grounds. Armories in two cities, state institutional improvements in addition to those proposed for the fair grounds, and flood relief measures are also mentioned in the budget.

The state department of finance is expected to exercise supervision over the state tax commission for the next four years, as the result of a conference between William H. Malone, chairman of the commission, and Garrett DeF. Kinney, selected by Governor Emmerson as director of finance.

Creation of a state department of public safety and establishing a modern highway patrol are provided for in a bill offered in the senate by Senator Harry M. Dunlap, Savoy. The director of the proposed new department will receive $7,000 annually and 12 district superintendents are to serve at a salary of $3,000. The department is to take over the highway patrol, now under the department of public works and buildings, and the automobile investigators of the secretary of state.

A bill introduced by Senator Charles Baker, Monroe Center, would require the applicant for motor vehicle license to state whether he has been convicted on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated or has not satisfied a judgment against him for violation of the vehicle motor act. The bill went to the committee on highway transportation.

Tons and tons of grapes, twice as many as during the previous year, were grown in Illinois in 1928, as a result of a gradual increase in the production of this crop, it is reported by Dr. A. S. Colby, associate chief of pomology at the college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

For the fourth consecutive session, Representative Elmer Schnackenberg, Chicago, has introduced a senatorial apportionment resolution. It provides for the appointment of a committee of five senators and five representatives to report a plan for reapportionment of the state.

The house of representatives has declared for an immediate building of 15 cruisers by the federal government. Representative Edwin Bederman, Chicago, introduced a resolution memorializing the senate of the United States to pass the pending bill. The resolution passed by unanimous vote and its contents were telegraphed to Illinois senators at Washington.

Mrs. Rena Elrod, representative from Chicago, has introduced bills permitting women of the state to serve on juries. Similar bills in former sessions have been defeated. The Elrod measures also empower jury commissions to select women for jury service and also for the separation of jurors.

Senator Victor P. Michel, Peoria, has offered a bill in the senate authorizing municipalities to acquire and maintain airports and landing fields, and levy a tax of 1 mill for their maintenance.

Speaker David E. Shanahan of the house of representatives replied a few days ago to an interview given to newspapers recently by Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, Downers Grove, in which she blamed Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, congresswoman-at-large from Illinois, for failure to be named chairman of the committee on education. Speaker Shanahan's statement was in part: "Neither Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, United States Senator Charles S. Deneen, United States Senator Otis F. Glenn, Congressman-at-Large-Elect Ruth Hanna McCormick, Congressman-at-Large Richard Yates, nor any of the congressmen from Illinois, National Committeewoman Bertha Bauer, Republican State Chairman Perry McCullough, nor the leaders of the various Republican factions in Cook county, nor any of the elected state officers of Illinois, ever requested either by letter, telegram, telephone or messenger, the appointment of any person as chairman of a committee. I had no communication of any kind whatever from Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick and since the close of the campaign in October, met her only on the occasion of the inauguration last month and did not talk any politics or legislative matters with her."

Speaking of conditions in public welfare in Illinois, just after assuming his place as director of public welfare, Rodney H. Brandon, Mooseheart, said that a study of the situation in Illinois as to defective criminality and insanity was indeed appalling. In the last 15 years the number of persons incarcerated in Illinois, for one cause or another, has increased so out of proportion to the increase in population of the state, that the proper care of these unfortunate people is indeed a serious problem. A rough estimate, made a few days ago indicates that, if this rate of increase continues, Illinois will have to spend more than $5,000,000 a year for the next three years in order to give as good conditions of housing to the insane and the criminals of Illinois as they have had in the past.

People in eastern Illinois are up in arms over the proposed plan of the federal government to take Chanute air field and training school away from Rantoul. Recently the Army and Navy Register had a footnote to this effect. "The appropriation of $220,000 for buildings at Chanute field should be eliminated (according to a recommendation of the secretary of war) from the appropriation bill for the fiscal year of 1930. This change is recommended because the question of retaining the technical school at Chanute field has not been determined by the War department and that it is deemed the best policy to wait until that has been done before building quarters."

Mrs. Florence Fifer Bohrer of Bloomington has presented a resolution for the submission of a constitutional amendment to a vote of the people. The proposal is that a senatorial apportionment be made each ten years beginning in 1931 and that Cook county be limited to 19 districts, and the remainder of the state have 32 districts. The basis shall be on the vote cast for governor at the next general election instead of on the basis of population.

Ralph Bradford, Pontiac, has been named director of the state department of conservation and Wencel C. Hetman, Chicago, has been named assistant director of purchases and construction by Gov. L. L. Emmerson. Mr. Bradford is returning to a post he held under the Lowden administration and succeeds Gus H. Radebaugh, Champaign. Doctor Bradford's appointment is one that will please the sportsmen of Illinois.

A bill has been introduced in the house by Mrs. Mary Cowan McAdams, Quincy, making changes relative to the admission of widows of veterans of wars to the Soldiers' and Sailors' home in Quincy. Mrs. McAdams would like to have an amendment added to the law already in force so that the wives of any of the inmates, or those who may become inmates later, may enter the institution, provided they were married to the soldier or sailor at least ten years before the application was filed, or provided they were more than fifty years of age with no means of support because of physical disability; the wife of a soldier or sailor of the World war may also enter if she was married to a veteran previous to January 1, 1920.

The state's February pay roll is expected to be about $40,000 lower than it was for January, as a result of Gov. Louis L. Emmerson's economy order. Dismissal of employees, said to be unnecessary and unqualified, this month, will bring the total discharged above 300, and whose combined salaries total in the neighborhood of $500,000 a year. To date Governor Emmerson has chosen five code department directors.

Amendment to the Illinois prohibition act, authorizing the sale of malt containing more than one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol, was provided for in a bill offered in the senate a few days ago by Senator John Hoehn, Chicago. The bill, the first having to do with liquor at the present session, went to the committee on judiciary.

Natural ventilation through open windows is distinctly superior as a health measure to mechanical devices, according to Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, state health director.

Mother and Baby Gain Health, Strength and Flesh

"I am so grateful for what Milks Emulsion has done for me that I am writing you this letter."

"I had a terrible cough and for four months was so weak that I had to rest on the bed several times while dressing. In fact, after putting on one stocking I would have to lie down and rest before putting the other on. People thought I had tuberculosis, but they don't think so now. I was so weak that I could not care for my baby, who was not getting sufficient nourishment to give him any strength. But after taking your Emulsion for a few months I regained my health and now I weigh 145 pounds. My baby is one year old and weighs 30 pounds. We are both in perfect health and we thank Milks Emulsion for it."

"You can publish this letter if you care to. I shall always praise Milks Emulsion." Yours truly, MRS. ED. ROUSE, Shelbyville, Ind., R. R. No. 9.

New York Telephones

In New York city there is a greater concentration of telephone wire than in any other community in the world. About 8,000,000 miles of wire is required to serve the telephones in New York, this being 13 per cent of the wire mileage of the Bell System. Ninety-five per cent of this wire is in underground cable.

Why He Succeeded

Honored politically and professionally, during his lifetime, Dr. R. V. Pierce, whose picture appears here, made a success few have equalled. His pure herbal remedies which have stood the test for many years are still among the "best sellers." Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a stomach alternative which makes the blood richer. It clears the skin, beautifies it; pimples and eruptions vanish quickly. This Discovery, or "G. M. D." of Dr. Pierce's puts you in fine condition. All dealers have it in liquid or tablets.

Send 10 cents for trial pkg. of tablets to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, Buffalo, N. Y., and write for free medical advice.

Help Kidneys By Drinking More Water

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation.

HAD TO WORK TOO HARD

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Gave Her Strength

Mt. Carmel, Pa.—"After my second baby was born I had to work too hard and be on my feet too soon because my husband was ill. After his death I was in such a weakened and run-down condition that nothing seemed to help me. I am starting the fourth bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and feel a great deal better. I am much stronger and don't get so tired out when I wash or work hard. I do housekeeping and dressmaking and I highly recommend the Vegetable Compound as a tonic. I am willing to answer any letters I receive asking about it."—Mrs. GEORGE BURTS, 414 S. Market, Mt. Carmel, Pa.

PRAYER

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 6:5-13; Luke 18:9-14; 1 John 5:14, 15.

GOLDEN TEXT—If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ask whatsoever ye will, and it shall be done unto you.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Talking With God.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Talking With God.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why Should We Pray?

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Christian's Prayer Life.

I. False Prayer (Matt. 6:5-7). This consists in

1. Praying to be seen and heard of men (v. 5). Many prayers uttered in a public sanctuary are false for there is more consideration given to what the people think than to what God thinks.

2. In using vain repetitions (vv. 7, 8). This does not mean that we should ask but once for the thing desired, for we have examples of both Christ and Paul praying three times for the same thing (Matt. 26:39-46, 11 Cor. 12:7, 8), but rather, it means the use of meaningless repetitions.

II. True Prayer (Matt. 6:6).

Since true prayer is a definite transaction of the soul with God, the communion of the human personality with the divine personality, there should be a real desire for fellowship with God, and then a going to Him in secret. God will abundantly reward those who thus seek His fellowship. We should have our closet prayers when all the world and its cares and pleasures are shut out, and we are shut in with God. We should meet with God's children and pray together.

III. The Model Prayer (Matt. 6:9-13).

1. A right relationship (v. 9) "Our Father."

Only those who have become children of God by faith in Jesus Christ can pray aright (Gal. 3:26). One must be a child of God before he can have communion with God.

2. A right attitude (vv. 9, 10) "Hallowed be Thy name."

When one realizes that he has been delivered from the power of darkness and translated into the kingdom of His dear Son (Col. 1:13), he cannot help pouring out his soul in gratitude and praise, intensely longing for the righteous rule of Christ on earth.

3. A right spirit (vv. 11-13).

(1) That of faith, which looks to God for the supply of daily bread. We are dependent upon Him for our daily food.

(2) That of love, which results in forgiveness of others. God will not listen to the prayers of one who has an unforgiving spirit.

(3) That of holiness which moves one to pray not to be led into temptation, and longs to be delivered from the evil one.

IV. The Proper Attitude of Soul in Prayer (Luke 18:9-14).

This is illustrated in the prayer of the Pharisee in contrast with the prayer of the publican. Observe

1. The prayer of the proud Pharisee (vv. 9-12).

He took a striking attitude (v. 11). He was self-righteous and trusted in himself. He congratulated himself upon his morality. He thanked God that he was not as other men. He congratulated himself for his religious merits (v. 12). He fasted twice a week and gave tithes of all he possessed. He thus informed God that he did more than what was required, implying that God was under obligation to him.

2. The prayer of the humble publican (v. 13).

In striking contrast with the Pharisee, the publican was too ashamed of his sins to even lift his eyes to heaven. He beat upon his breast as a sign of soul anguish and cried out to God to be merciful to him, a sinner. Christ declared that the publican went away justified, rather than the Pharisee.

V. Confidence in Prayer (1 John 5:14, 15).

1. Its basis (v. 13).

Only those who have knowledge of the reality of salvation can pray with confidence. If one has assurance that he is God's child and possesses eternal life, he will come into the presence of his Father with boldness.

2. The scope of his prayer (v. 14). "Anything according to His will."

The believer has a right to bring to God in prayer anything within the scope of the divine will.

3. The blessed issue of the believer's prayer (v. 15).

"We know that we have the petition that we desired of Him." God's children coming to Him for that which is included in His will can be assured of receiving the things needed.

False Security of the Wicked

The ideal, delicious food for children

LEADING doctors, interested in the welfare of children, recommend delicious Karo as the Ideal energy food for growing children—

Because it is so easily digested—and supplies quickly the energy growing children need daily.

Karo, these doctors have found, does not cause a child to develop an abnormal taste for sweets—

Nor does Karo spoil the digestion or appetite.

There are 120 calories per ounce in Karo—almost twice the energy value of eggs and lean beef, weight for weight.

The mother of the large family finds Karo very economical too—costing much less than many other staple foods.

Serve plenty of Karo—keep the children strong, healthy and happy.

SPAIN ADOPTS AMERICAN TELEPHONE SCHOOL DEAL

One result of the introduction into Spain of American telephone methods has been the opening of the Madrid School of Telephony. This school was opened a year ago to centralize the system of instruction for employees. Previous to that time there was no standard system of learning, the employees receiving instruction from their superior in the ordinary "learn from experience" manner. Now, instruction is given such employees by specialists in the various fields of telephone work, the student roll including employees all the way from line-men and operators to engineers.

General John J. Carly, Vice-President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, has been elected an honorary member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

FOR THE SOUTH

Most flattering to everyone is this frock which combines a chic simplicity with the rather elaborate femininity which is so much the mode. The round neckline, the simple blouse has a lovely grace. The snug draped girdle is becoming and smart. And of course rippling tiers have become a fashion law. This pattern provides back seams to give a princess line; but these may be omitted.

The frock on the right is one of those adaptable patterns which may be fitted to a multiplicity of uses. Its deep shawl collar makes it universally becoming. The tight girdle obeys a fashion law—and flatters as well. And the full skirt will be seen in many smart places. Developed in organdy or printed silk, this becomes a charming frock for the south. In gingham, it is a chic house dress.

Let Us Laugh

The codfish lays a million eggs
And the helpful hen lays one;
But the codfish doesn't cackle
To tell us what she's done;
And so we scorn the codfish coy,
And the helpful hen we prize,
Which indicates to you and me
That it pays to advertise.

He: Let's kiss and make up.
She: If you'll be careful I won't need to.

Irvin Cobb is said to have stated recently that it was unfortunate that some of his best stories couldn't be printed.

Mrs. Brown: So your husband was lost at sea?
Mrs. Green: Yes, a bathing beauty got him.

A barber was shaving a new customer. "Haven't I shaved you before, sir?" said he.
"No," said the customer, "I got those scars in France."

Our Subscription Premium Offer MITTEN DUSTER

FITS THE HAND LIKE A GLOVE

The Duster of a Thousand Uses

With this Big Fluffy Chemically Treated Mitten Yarn Duster, a housewife can do her house cleaning in less time and with less effort, than is required with ordinary dusters. It does not only absorb and retain the dust as a Magnet attracts steel, but with the chemical elements retained in the Yarn by a patented process it cleans and polishes furniture and other woodwork around the house in one operation, leaving all cleaned surface with a lustre as beautiful as when new.

A CAR OWNER'S DELIGHT

It does not scatter dust from one place to another as common dusters do, but absorbs and retains it; and when soiled can readily be washed like any other yarn garment, and when dry is as clean and large and fluffy as when new.

With the aid of an Auto Mitten Duster a car owner can clean and polish his automobile in a few minutes, without soiling his hands or clothes; just once over and the car is spick and span. It makes frequent washings unnecessary, and as it takes time and money to have your car washed, the amount saved is worth while.

This Mitten Duster is also used extensively in schools, and institutions and all public buildings as well as in stores and offices.

Test Buick
against any automobile in the world—in all elements of Performance — let results on the road determine your choice!

Winning more than twice as many buyers as any other automobile listing above $1200 . . . by completely exploding the theory that "all cars are the same" and that it was next to impossible for any car to score a revolutionary advance in performance!

That is the achievement of the thrilling Buick of today; and that is the basic reason why Buick makes this simple, straightforward suggestion to motor car buyers —

Take a Buick—test it in direct comparison with any other car—let the test embrace all elements of performance. . . .

COUPES, $1195 to $1875 — SEDANS, $1220 to $2145 — SPORT CARS, $1225 to $1550 These prices f.o.b. Buick Factory. Convenient terms can be arranged on the liberal G. M. A. C. Time Payment Plan.

Mrs. Emma Schmidt who has been ill for sometime remains about the same.

Mrs. Julius Hirsch left a week ago with her sister of Blue Island on an auto trip to Florida. The auto was ditched by the icy pavement so the rest of the trip was made by rail. John Balaz who has been quite ill is much improved.

Milton Krapp and son Robert attended the Hardware Dealers Convention held in Chicago Wednesday.

Miss Marie Horras former Mokena girl, is attending the St. Clara School for Girls at Cincinnati, Iowa.

Mrs. John Sutter who has been ill for some time, was taken to the Silver Cross hospital at Joliet last Saturday afternoon. Her daughter, Mrs. Charles Bock of Manhattan had been caring for her up to this time.

The heating plant in the new school building has been placed in operation and the finishing of the interior work on the new building is under way.

Mrs. Harrison Haley of Kempton spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Nicholas Lauffer.

Barney Hostert who figured in a grade crossing crash at Thornton last Friday morning when a C. & E. I. train hit a truck he was driving, and who sustained injuries, is improving nicely. The stitches have been removed from a scalp cut.

Charles Hirsch attended a meeting of the Pure Milk Association held in Joliet Monday.

W. H. Bechstein who has been critically ill with heart trouble, remains about the same.

A Lincoln's birthday program was held at the Mokena school Tuesday.

The lovers patron saint, St. Valentine, had his inning Thursday. At the Mokena school valentine boxes were placed in each room, and the students had a pleasant time in the receipt and exchange of the tender missives.

WHAT DR. CALDWELL LEARNED IN 47 YEARS PRACTICE

A physician watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the system and is not habit forming. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for anybody's system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly.

Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to the nearest druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, or write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. BB, Monticello, Illinois, for free trial bottle.

Repeating my instructions, and reminding him that he would be favorably received as a scout for the colonies, the Onondaga and I swung into the path and made for the cabins. Having already been guests in the village we did not go through the formality of shouting our names.

We went to the cabin set aside for strangers and were promptly served with meat and a course bread. It was evident that Queen Allaquippa did not wish us to delay our departure. We did not propose leaving, however, until Cromit had put in his appearance. News forwarded from Duquesne would be useless unless the McDowell's mill man was waiting to carry it to the army. Before departing for the fort, I had to satisfy my self that Cromit would not be refused shelter in the village; so we ate our meat leisurely and fought the minutes.

Having finished and wiped our fingers on little bundles of dried grass I proceeded to mend my moccasins. After I had made my foot-gear as good as new I advised the Onondaga to take his time.

When I believed an hour had elapsed, I peered through a small hole at the end of the cabin and beheld Cromit striding through the woods. He halted and shouted the guest call and was promptly confronted by several warriors. They talked with him for a few moments and then gladly shouted:

"Ingelishman! Ingelishman!"
They seized his hands and patted his shoulders and in a hospitable pantomime waved their arms and pointed toward the cabins.

He entered the village and the word was rapidly passed that he was "Ingelishman"; and where we had received scowls and frowns he beheld nothing but beaming countenances. He wandered about and passed our cabin and beheld us but gave no sign of recognition. A warrior must have informed him that we were French in our sympathies for he paused and made derisive gestures at us, whereat the savages laughed in great enjoyment. I was afraid the audacious rascal would challenge us to a fight, or play some other trick. Now satisfied his welcome would be permanent I picked up my rifle and, with the Onondaga, stepped outside.

That day we advanced with great caution and made slow progress. It was the back trail that held our attention. More than once we drew to one side of the path and waited to learn if we were pursued.

All timber originally crowding against the fort had been leveled for a considerable depth. Vast cornfields stretched for a fourth of a mile up the Allegheny and the Monongahela. In addition to these, there were many kitchen gardens along the Allegheny. On the Monongahela, there were a number of mills.

We struck the clearing at a point opposite the eastern gate, a rather pretentious portal of ten feet in width swinging on hinges and having a wicket in the middle. Inside the stockade were two storehouses, or magazines, as many barracks, a guardhouse and prison, the commandant's residence and the chapel. All these were very stoutly built of heavy logs and backed up to within three feet of the stockade, the intervening space being packed with earth, and the board roofs at the eaves lying level with the ramparts. There were no pickets, nor pointed palisades, and from our position it looked as if the whole enclosure was roofed over.

We emerged from the woods and made for the eastern gate, and our coming seemed to be unnoticed. One of the Canadian militia was lazily guarding the gate, half asleep because of the hot sun. After scrutinizing us for a few moments he said: "I greet you, m'sieu. You would see Captain de Beaujeu?"

I expressed that desire, and he yawned and called a soldier and told him to take my name to the commandant. Very soon the messenger returned and said I was to follow him. The Onondaga dropped behind to stroll about the enclosure. I was conducted to the commandant's house between the guardhouse and the western gate. All the way from Allaquippa's town I had been schooling my nerves for this meeting. There could be no partial success; either I would remain unsuspected, or go into a Huron kettle. I realized that some tongue might have wagged since my former visit for news travels fast in the forest. All doubts vanished however when Captain Beaujeu ran from the house and embraced me warmly. In dress and appearance, I was only a courier de bois, but on our first meeting I had given the name of an old family whose fortunes were ruined, but whose blood held good.

Captain Beaujeu was forty-four years of age, a native of Montreal. His father had been a captain at Three Rivers, and forest fighting ran in the blood. The son already wore the cross of a Knight of St. Louis and had served as commandant at Niagara. He was absolutely incapable of fear and possessed a soul courage that went well with his heart. Other Frenchmen, who did little in comparison with his supreme accomplishment are registered on the printed page, but few in these latter days know the deeds of Beaujeu.

We had some wine and he pressed me for news. I gave him a part of the information Cromit had brought me. It was correct so far as it went, but I made no mention of the general sickness among the soldiers, nor of the uneasiness among the regulars and provincials, nor of the jealousies and bitterness among the officers. In so far as I talked, I spoke truthfully for his spies had been, and would be, keeping him informed, and I had no desire to be proved a liar. When I had finished, I eagerly asked:

"We will fight, eh?"
"We will fight. I find there are some things a Chevalier of St. Louis cannot do—run away without making a fight."

"Good!" I exclaimed. "Then reinforcements have arrived?"

"We are weaker in regulars and militia than we were in the spring," he calmly replied. "But we have increased our Indian force a little. Monsieur, you are devoted to France. You have cast your lot with us. You are entitled to the truth. The Indians are uneasy. Nay, they are frightened. They may refuse to make a fight. I make myself believe they will lift the ax and dispute Braddock's progress. But I have dreamed of waking and finding their butts empty, of finding my red allies returning to their northern villages. There have been no reinforcements from Canada. I have sent messages to describe our desperate plight, but no men come back.

He Was Absolutely Incapable of Fear and Possessed a Soul Courage That Went Well With His Heart.

"And, my friend, I have some news that is later than yours. A runner arrived yesterday, saying the army has reached Jacobs' creek and is waiting there for provisions to be brought up. So the English are having their troubles. I only pray that they come by the easy crossings of the Monongahela. If they do, I propose to lay an ambush just before they reach the river. By Our Lady's help we may surprise them. But if Braddock chooses to march across Turtle creek, twelve miles from its mouth, there will be no chance for an ambush; for the country, although rough for travel, has no good cover for a surprise attack. If he comes along that line, then all we can do is to die fighting."

"Let us hope for the best," I said. I was devoutly sincere in saying it only my "best" was not his.

He laughed softly and replied: "Monsieur Beland, what is there left for us to fight except hope? Still it is good to show these stolid English how a Frenchman can die. I will attack even if the army comes by the Turtle creek route; and I shall die, as the Indians will not make a fight in that country.

"Walk about the fort, monsieur, and spirit up the men with a few words. I must be busy for a bit of rounding out my plans for a grand coup. But we will dine leisurely tonight. There will be several at the table whom you met on your former visit. There will be Lieutenant de Carqueville, Sieur de Parieux and Lieutenant de la Parade. The brothers de Normandville are out on a scout and won't come in until the enemy is very close.

"Poor Dupuy has served his king and has gone to his reward. I do not think you met him. A brave simple soul who knew no fear. Nor was Lieutenant Beauvais here on your first visit, but he is a most pleasing man, and you will rejoice in forming his acquaintance."

"Lieutenant Beauvais," I repeated, the two words ringing oddly in my ears.

"You have met him in Montreal, perhaps?"

"The name sounds familiar. But I recall no officer acquaintance of that name."

"Somehow you two impress me as being much alike. The pleasure will be mutual, I know. I only regret poor Dupuy could not be here."

"I regret to infer from your words, monsieur, that your friend is dead."

"Killed on a recent scout. It is the reward of the forest brave men."

My mind was whirling. My words seemed to come without any mental volition and I did not realize what I was saying until I had said it. De Beaujeu, as he escorted me to the door, added:

"Like yourself Beauvais is a man of deeds. He loves to go alone into the dangerous places."

"You flatter me, monsieur. And what hour do we dine?"

"We will not wait for Lieutenant Beauvais after seven. He should be here today."

There came a great surge of relief. His speech cleared the situation somewhat. Dupuy, killed by the Onondaga outside the little cabin, had been reported dead by the French Indians. Beauvais had been captured inside the cabin and his three red companions had died. So, there were no witnesses to his fate.

Then I remembered the Frenchman carrying belts to Allaquippa and in parting from the commandant said:

"And Monsieur Falest? I trust to see him. Of course he has told you of our meeting in Allaquippa's town. I liked him much."

"Wait, wait, monsieur! If you please, tell me about Monsieur Falest. He should be here before now. He carries belts from the governor of Canada. The belts were refused. A Huron, who carried belts from Pontiac, was found dead just outside the village. I am anxious to hear the details."

Now for a surety was I nonpulsed. He was waiting for Falest to come, and Falest had started twelve hours ahead of me. But Falest had not arrived, and yet the commandant knew the belts were refused by Allaquippa and that the Huron was dead. I stole a glance at his dark face wondering if he were playing with me—if his cordial welcome was but a piece of mockery. He detected something in my face, and further inquired:

"You have kept back some bad news, monsieur?"

His tone was hard and brittle, that of a commandant rather than of a courteous host. I told him:

"Your words have surprised me. Monsieur Falest started for this place early last evening, intending to make a night trip of it. He was accompanied by a young Englishman who has a French heart."

"Sacre bleu! Do you rave, or are my ears lying to me?" he fiercely demanded.

"Monsieur de Beaujeu!" I exclaimed. The bewilderment reflected in my thin face must have impressed him as being genuine, for he hastily cried:

"A thousand pardons if I seem to be rude, Monsieur Beland. But here is a mystery. Ha! Perhaps a bloody mystery. One that bodes ill for Duquesne."

World's Great Had to Overcome Grave Ills

Not an individual living is absolutely free from handicaps. Some of us are physically disabled, others are mentally harassed, hundreds suffer both, writes Louis E. Bisch in the American Magazine. We struggle with deformity; we fight disease; we wrestle with doubts, feelings of inferiority, oversensitiveness, uncontrollable temper, all sorts of distressing disabilities. Even the greatest among us are handicapped like that. Every human being is prevented somehow from fulfilling his highest destiny.

Many of our greatest men were handicapped by disease, and somehow surmounted it. Milton and Handel were blind. Beethoven was deaf and Keats had tuberculosis. Pope was deformed. Caesar suffered from epilepsy. Lamb and his sister were subject to repeated attacks of insanity. Fielding wrote his rollicking book, "Tom Jones," while melancholy. Florence Nightingale did some of her best executive work while bedridden. The list, indeed, is a long one. These people achieved in spite of a hardship.

IT'S ALL TRUE

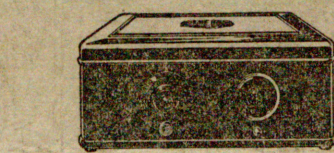

—when you have the right radio

RADIO does bring the city "up close." It does mean more to farm families than to anyone else.

BUT you've got to have a good radio. Radio that reaches out. Radio that sounds natural. Radio that's always ready when you are. The best evidence that Atwater Kent Radio is good radio—that it really does the job as everybody wants it done—is the fact that it is and has been for a long time the best seller in both the city and the country. After listening, after comparing prices, most people want it—because they find it's the kind they want.

From a lamp-socket or from batteries

Some homes have electricity, some haven't. Either way, you get fine Atwater Kent performance and proved dependability. If you do not happen to have power from a central station, you can enjoy the broadcasting with the improved, powerful 1929 Atwater Kent Model 40 (Electric), $77. For 110-120 volt, 50-60 cycle alternating current. Requires 6 A. C. tubes and 1 rectifying tube, $77 (without tubes).

Couldn't Budge Mule

A freight pulled out of Vilas, Kan., and about a mile from the station the train came up behind a buggy being hauled down the track by an old gray mule. The engineer slowed down and whistled, but there was no driver to hear. The mule declined to change his course, so the engineer backed the train to the station, uncoupled and started after the mule and the buggy. A brakeman flagged the wandering animal, led him from the track and the engine went back and got its train.

PROOF OF DYES is in the dyeing!

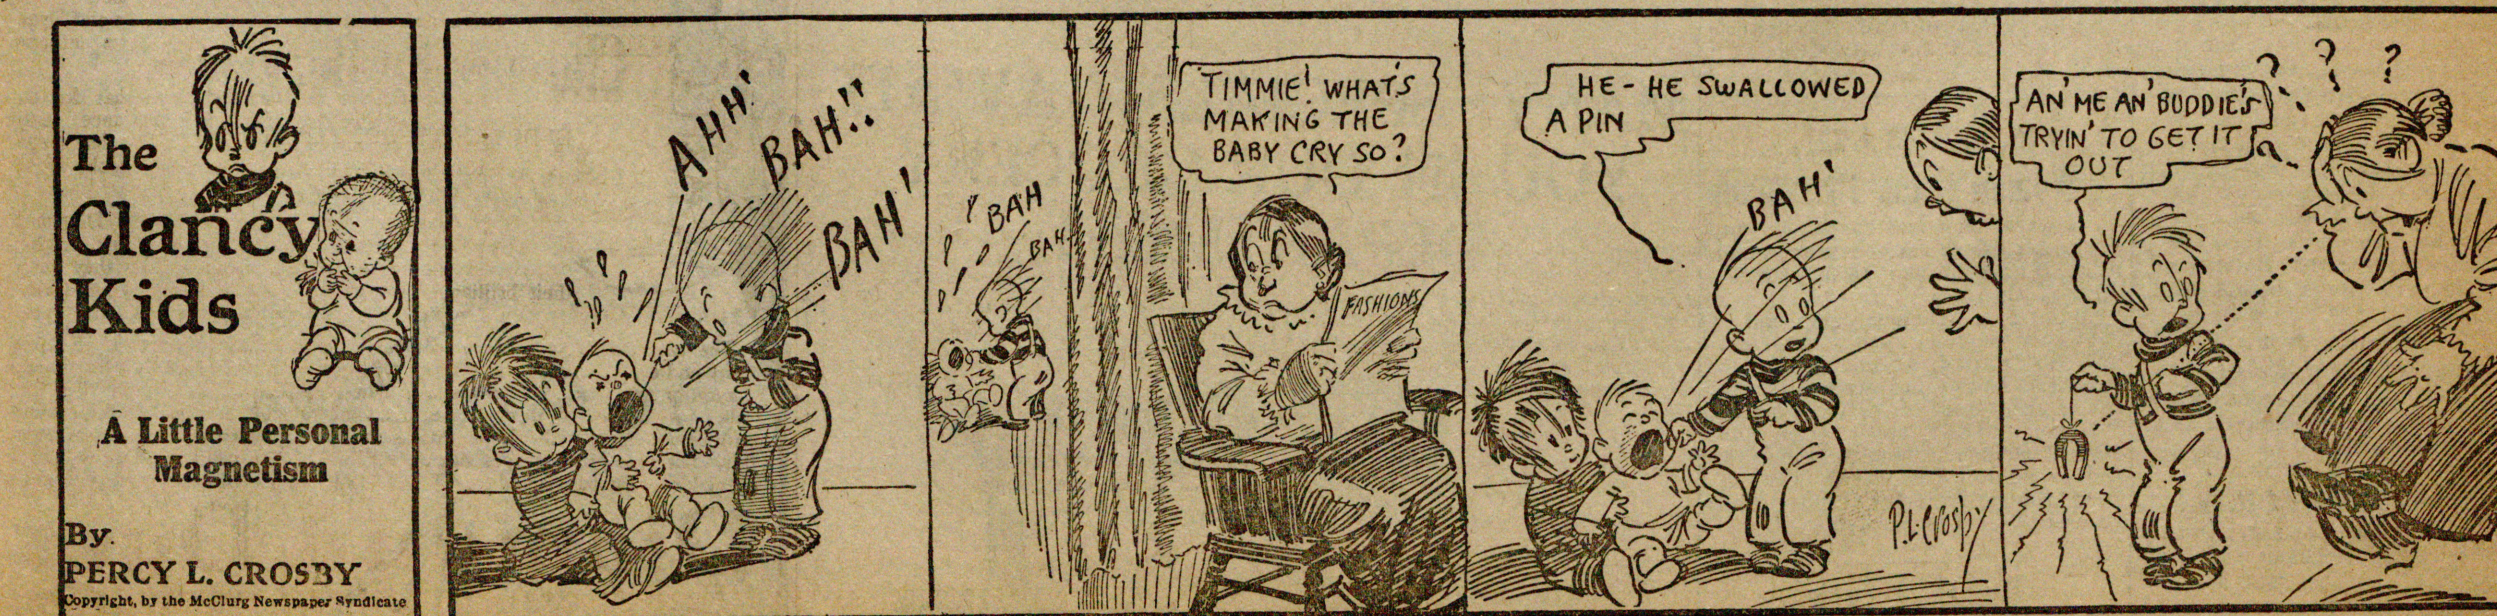

Words won't dye a dress, or coat, or sweater. It takes real anilines to do that. That's why Diamond Dyes contain from three to five times more anilines than any other dye—by actual test.

It's the anilines in Diamond Dyes that do the work; that give the colors such brilliance; such depth and permanence. It's real aniline that keeps them from giving things that re-dyed look; from spotting or streaking.

Next time you have dyeing to do—try Diamond Dyes. Then compare results. See how soft, bright, new-looking the colors are. Observe how they keep their brilliance through wear and washing. Your dealer will refund your money if you don't agree Diamond Dyes are better dyes.

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the original "all-purpose" dye for any and every kind of material. It will dye or tint silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye, for silk or wool only. With it you can dye your valuable articles of silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. When you buy—remember this. The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package will dye every kind of goods, including silk and wool. Your dealer has both packages.

URGES SWITCHBOARD AS SCHOOL FOR STAGE

Theatre Critic Praises Telephone Operators for Clearness of Enunciation

In the opinion of Ashton Stevens, well known critic of the theatre, girls who desire to qualify for the stage might improve their chances by first obtaining positions as telephone operators.

Mr. Stevens greatly commended the members of Winthrop Ames' Gilbert and Sullivan Company and the recent American Opera Company for the clearness of their enunciation in song and speech, asserting that they make one pleasantly conscious of what a delightful speech is the so-called English when it is properly pronounced and that they are as articulate as telephone operators.

The average good modern American play, says Mr. Stevens, employs a vocabulary of less than 1,000 words, most of which are meticulously mispronounced by the actors. A manager once asked Mr. Stevens where he could find half a dozen girls who could speak correctly words of two or more syllables, and when the critic told him to go to the telephone company the manager thought he was joking. Mr. Stevens, however, makes it clear that he is not joking and he pays a high tribute to the care and patience given to the training of telephone operators throughout the Bell System. He points out that in the shops, bazars and office buildings one usually encounters English no clearer than one's own, but that as soon as one lifts the telephone receiver and listens, one gets a different idea of the value of clearness in enunciation. Seriously, he advocates that all girl candidates for junior membership in the Actors' Equity Association should be obliged to spend a year at the switchboard.

YELLOWSTONE NOW HAS LONG DISTANCE LINES

Practically all sections of Yellowstone National Park have just recently been provided with Long Distance telephone service, so that every large city or town in the United States can now be reached from any point in the park by not more than two switches.

Heretofore, telephone service in the park has been limited to private systems which were operated by the park service and by the hotels, but as a result of the new facilities, Long Distance service now connects with the Bell System throughout the country. A three-circuit group has been run into Mammoth Hot Springs, the park headquarters, from Helena, Mont., with another direct wire from Livingston which is sixty miles north of Mammoth. A summer exchange is located at Mammoth, with circuits leading to Yellowstone Canyon, Yellowstone Lake, Old Faithful and West Yellowstone, which is the western entrance to the park.

LOS ANGELES' FIRST TELEPHONE

It was on November 26, 1877, that the first telephone came to the city of Los Angeles. It was brought there by Lieutenant Phillip Reade and considerable was the excitement when it became known that he had been successful in transmitting his voice over wires between the St. Charles Hotel and the LaFayette Hotel across the street, a distance of 100 feet.
